An Angel Flies

The Beach is a place I often love to write about. There are so many appealing aspects of it's geography, dynamics and social/cultural mix that I often think we should somehow scoop up the essence and bottle it .

This issue, I would like to tell you a story about a friend; a friend of mine, a friend of the Beach, a friend of the legal community, a friend to her friends, and most importantly, the soul mate to her husband Bill. Doreen Alcamo loved every aspect of the Beach community, embracing the very nature of our every day life. Whether she was Doe, Doreen , or Lucy , Doe had more nicknames than I can count. A nick name says "I love you".

Everyone that knew Doreen loved her and she loved us back in her kind, thoughtful and imaginative ways. Doe was the answer for so many looking for a skilled handyman, contractor or artisan. Clever, artistic and confident , she always, with a wink , a smile , and a smidgen of time, made thoughts a reality. Doe just loved doing things for others and making them happy; stress free and glad. Her talents and mind went far beyond the tasks at hand. Doe was brilliant, talented and so creatively imaginative.

On March 30, 2012 my dear friend Doreen died , suddenly, before anyone could say goodbye,. Long before her time, but not before she touched, soothed and befriended people from every walk of life. Her smile, gentle hugs and unforgettable laugh and antics will stand the test of time, leaving us with a legacy that was pure and simple. We will never forget the Angel that walked, danced, and then floated within our midst.

I was blessed with a great angel , she walked with me , golfed with me, talked with me , hugged me and was just her pure self as she did so with so many.....
